Market Review

- The Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEI) was volatile during June but wound up moving sideways. While the index trended lower and hit key support levels during the month, strong buying appetite in late June led to a month-on-month change of just -0.3%.
- Headline inflation came in higher last May at 3.9% y/y versus April's 3.8% y/y. However, the print was below estimates and at the lower end of the 3.7% y/y to 4.5% y/y forecast of the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas. Inflation is expected to move lower after a reduction in rice import tariffs was approved, with the BSP lowering its 2024 forecast from 3.5% y/y to 3.3% y/y.
- Despite this, the BSP kept its policy rate steady during its June meeting though their post meeting communication took a more dovish stance. BSP Governor Remolona indicated that they are ready to cut rates twice this year, with the first one potentially coming ahead of the U.S. Federal Reserve's.
- In the local equity market, liquidity was notably lower during the month. Average daily turnover was lower by 37% MoM as it dropped to $84 million. Foreign funds were once again net sellers of Philippine equities, bringing total outflows for the first half of the year to over $500 million.
- With a lack of strong catalysts expected in July, the PSEI may continue to trade between its support of 6,150 and resistance of 6,500.
