HOW DO THE SLG GLOBAL TECH FUNDS WORK?

SLG Global Tech Funds are VUL fund options that function as feeder funds by investing in a US Dollar- denominated target fund focused on the technology sector. Initially, the target fund is the Invesco EQQU LN Nasdaq-100 ETF, which tracks the NASDAQ-100 Index. This index features 100 of the largest US and international non-financial securities listed in the NASDAQ Index, covering major industry groups like computer hardware and software, telecommunications, retail/wholesale trade and biotechnology. With this, the SLG Global Tech Funds will benefit from exposure to the leading and most innovative technology companies, aiming for growth and strong potential returns.

Over the past decade, the Nasdaq-100 has significantly outperformed the Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEi).

The Nasdaq-100 is heavily weighted towards the technology sector, reflecting the dominance of technology companies in the index.

NOTE: Historical performance of the index does not represent actual performance of a portfolio and is not a guarantee of the expected future performance. Investments may decline in value. Underlying target fund and allocation may vary over time. The historical returns illustrated do not consider applicable product fees (i.e. charges, taxes, etc.).

ARE THESE FUNDS FOR ME?

SLG Global Tech Funds are good VUL fund options if you are looking to further diversify your US Dollar assets in the global technology sector and have a high tolerance for risks. They are also ideal if your goal is wealth accumulation over a long-term investment horizon.

HOW DO I AVAIL OF THESE FUNDS?

SLG Global Tech Funds are available as fund options to any Sun Life Grepa US Dollar-denominated VUL insurance plans. This will allow you to enjoy the combined benefit of insurance protection and investments in one financial solution.
