Market Review

- Global equities rose in July as investor sentiment improved on the back of the announcement of several U.S. trade agreements and the passage of the One Big Beautiful Bill Act, bringing more clarity on future policy backdrop. MSCI ACWI ended the month up +1.38%. U.S. equities also rose with the S&P 500 up +2.24% and Nasdaq-100 up +2.41%. Other markets saw mixed performance in USD terms, with Europe down -1.93%, Japan falling -1.25%, and Asia ex-Japan gaining +2.63%.

- Global fixed income declined by -1.49% in July as yields increased and FX moves contributed negatively due to US-dollar strength. The yield on 10-year US Treasury ended at 4.37% for the month.

- U.S. inflation (CPI) accelerated for the second consecutive month to 2.7% in June, up from 2.4% in May and in line with expectations. On a monthly basis, headline CPI rose by 0.3% due to higher food and transportation prices. Core inflation, which excludes food and energy, went up to 2.9% YoY, but below the 3% forecast.

- In July, investor sentiment improved as political noise eased, and markets gained more clarity on U.S. trade and fiscal policies. Positive momentum was supported by the U.S. signing new trade agreements with Vietnam, Japan, and the EU, which helped reduced concerns over an escalating trade war.
