Market Review

- The Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEI) had a relatively flat December. It closed above the 6,000 level, specifically at 6,052.9. Year on Year, the PSEI saw a decline of 7.29%.
- The BSP (Philippine Central Bank) and the Fed (Central Bank of the US) both cut rates by 25 bps in December. These moves helped push both markets higher.
- Foreign Exchange was once again a factor as the Peso hit an all-time low of P59.22:$1 during the month. The Peso stayed close to these levels it ended the year, finishing among the weakest in the region for 2025.
- Foreign funds were again sellers in December amounting to $210 million. 2025 was the eight straight year of foreign outflows. Foreign ownership is already at 18.7%, an all-time low.
- With the PSEI holding above 6,000, the market may try to make a run at the resistance of 6,400. However, there remains a lack of catalysts so trading activity might remain muted.
